Mothers' Effort

Council To Decide Today On Funding Girls' Sports

The Athletic Council is expected to act today on recommendations and requests submitted for enlarging the athletic program for girls at Arlington High School.

Recommendations for next year, submitted by mothers of girl athletes led by Mrs. Albert Fogo and Mrs. Eugene Gross, include adding three cheerleading squads, gymnastics, lacrosse and track teams.

For the second year the mothers would like to see junior varsity teams added for field hockey, basketball, volleyball, softball, tennis, as well as a broadened gymnastics program, field events in track, and golf. The third year they would like to see all the girls' programs expanded to bring them to a parity with the boys' sports.

The Athletic Council is composed of three members of the School Committee, the superintendent and assistant superintendent for business, the headmaster and athletic director. Chairman is William Carey, School Committee chairman.

Carey says he sees the girls' programs expanding this year, but he does not know by how much. A problem is space.

Carey agrees that the situation with girls' sports is "out of whack," and says he took chairmanship of the Athletic Council this year because he saw a need to expand and upgrade the girls' program. He says he plans to recommend that the Athletic Council be abolished and its duties turned over to the administration.

According to Mrs. Fogo things came to a head this fall when the girls' teams still did not have coaches, following the resignation last May of Liz McDonough who became an assistant housemaster.

The girls started their hockey season losing two weeks of practice because they had no coach. They ended up being given a field at Spy Pond Field which is so full of rocks that Mrs. Fogo says there were two injuries — in one case a coach got hit in the face with a stone and in another a player's nose was broken when the ball deflected off a rock and hit her.

Mrs. Fogo was disturbed by these conditions, the fact that there are no nets around the goals to protect spectators, and that there is no storage for equipment, so the coach carries the sticks around in her car. Mrs. Fogo talked to other mothers and the campaign to upgrade girls' sports began.

On Nov. 15 the mothers made a presentation to the Athletic Council stating some of their major concerns. Mrs. Gross says that while the Athletic Council itself does not have authority for all of the areas discussed, individual members of the council do.

The mothers' concerns included: need for full utilization of present facilities (mothers had to ask that the idle freshman gym be made available to the girls); and need for a full review of the physical education program from grades 1-12.

Also, study of the intramural sports program with an eye to upgrading it so there are more opportunities for boys and girls to participate; and review of the design of the new field house to assure that girls' needs will also be met.

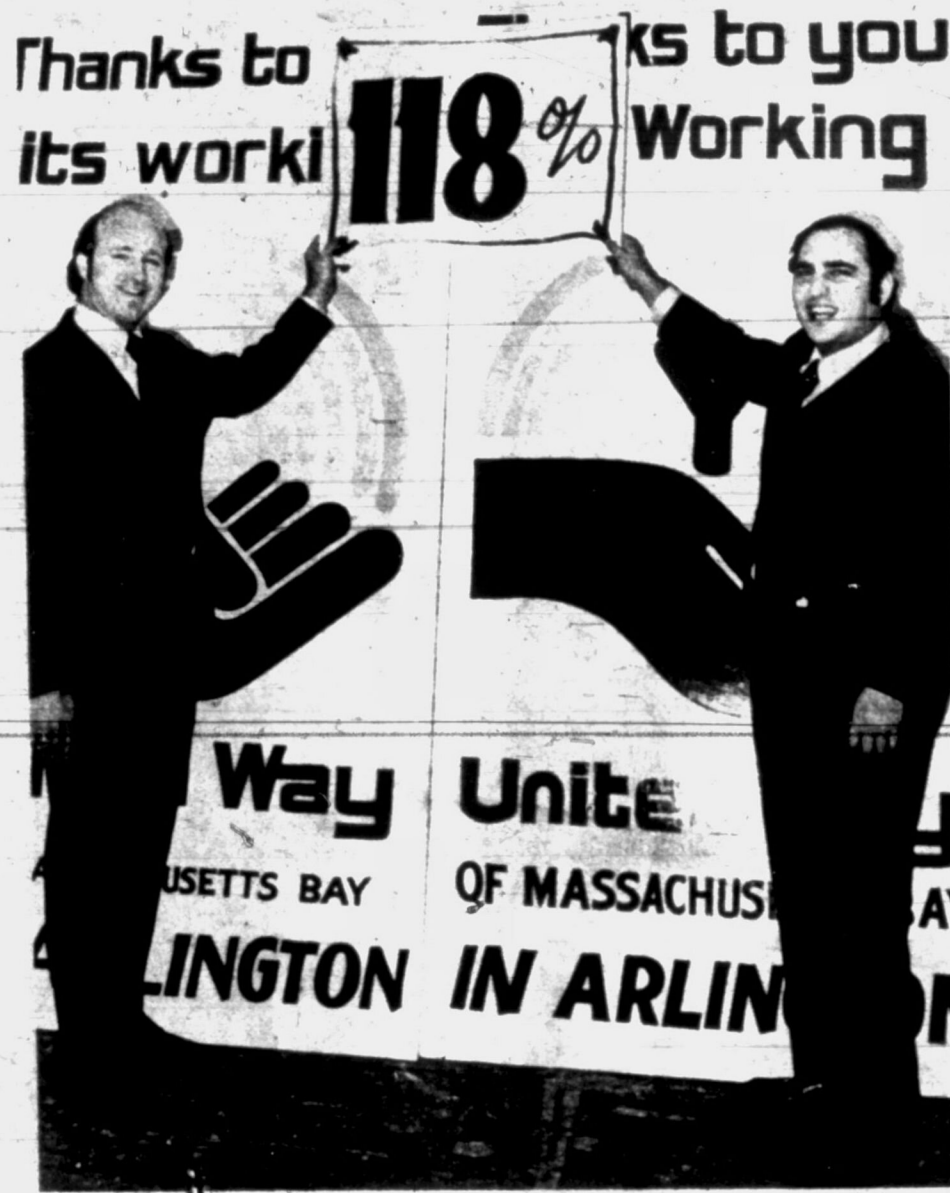

And, review of the interscholastic program which the mothers feel is heavily weighted towards boys, to determine if the girls' teams lack decent facilities and fields and if there are inequalities in expenditures on equipment, uniforms and transportation for boys and girls; and, lastly, if it is true that the male athletes have special privileges, these be eliminated or also accorded to the girls.

Another complaint of the mothers is that there is still a girls' basketball coaching vacancy. Mrs. Fogo questions what would happen if a player had to be hospitalized — the coach should go to the hospital with the player and that would leave the team alone. Already one player has had a broken finger.

Mrs. Gross says the mothers' group does not maintain that there have to be women's coaches for the girls' teams, but that the school department "should conduct a more intensive effort to find coaches."

Another complaint is with the way teams get started. When the girls wanted track they had to petition the Athletic Council to prove they wanted it and find their own coach, says

Meeting March 18

Warrant Has 103 Articles

Regional school articles, a requested pay hike for town employees, plus several articles relative to definition of family, structures and definition of lodging houses are among the 103 articles which Town Meeting members will be called to act on March 18 when the annual spring session begins.

The number of articles represents the fewest the meeting members have been called to act on in several years and is far below the record 142 of three years ago.

The pay raise article which caused considerable controversy during the late fall and early winter days asks for an amendment to the classification and pay plan so as to grant pay increases of eight percent to the nearest dollar or $800 to fulltime town employees. The requested appropriation under this article would be $642,000.

Article 45 on the warrant, inserted by the Finance Committee, asks for an $800 increase for fulltime employees. It also requests 40 cents hourly for part-time employees excluding employees for whom the Arlington Teachers' Association is the bargaining agent. The increase will apply only for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1974, and will not come within the pay plan.

Pay raises granted at this year's town meeting will become effective July 1.

There are two articles to be discussed relative to the Minuteman Regional Vocational Technical High School District Committee.

Article 52 asks for an appropriation of funds to cover the town's share of the cost of operation and maintenance costs of the school, including capital costs. Article 52 requests an amendment relative to the organization and operation of the Advisory Committee.

There are two separate articles to be discussed relative to the definition of family. These come up consecutively as Articles 58 and 59.

Article 57 will center around the definition of the word "structure." This article and one of the articles relative to the definition of family have been inserted by the Redevelopment Board; the other family article has been inserted by 10 registered voters. Article 60, also inserted by the Redevelopment Board, concerns action relative to the definition of the word "lodging."

Under Article 47 the Town Yard Site Committee has requested an amendment of action taken at the Oct. 9, 1972 Special Town Meeting relative to the makeup of the committee. The amendment would increase the number of members of the committee to 11. A request for $12,000 for the use of the committee for further site study is also requested.

Other articles relative to the classification and pay plan include Article 5 which would reallocate Public Works foreman from grade MC8 to MC9 with a requested appropriation of $5,377.

Article 6 requests an appropriation of $936 for 25 cents additional for those operating compressors. Under Article 7 there would be a reallocation of motor equipment operator from grade MC2 to MC3. The requested appropriation under this article is $10,356. All three of these articles were inserted by the Personnel Board.

Article 8 inserted by the Town Manager asks for half holidays for employees for Good Friday and for Christmas Eve when it falls on any day Monday through Friday.

Class Makes Mummy And Pyramid

Anyone who wants to see an Egyptian tomb, a real (almost) mummy, or hieroglyphics doesn't have to go to Egypt, or even the Museum of Fine Arts. All these exhibits are at the Brackett School.

The sixth grade class of Chuck Luce spent three months in and out of school on a big project which started with the study of Egypt in social studies.

The project, which became an Egyptian pyramid, is constructed in their classroom where student guides give visitors a tour and background on how mummies were made, about the murals, hieroglyphics, the pyramids and practically anything else one can think of that he'd want to know about Egypt.

The classroom door is covered with stonework on paper. A narrow "stone" corridor leads the visitor to the inner room of the pyramid where walls are covered with murals and hieroglyphics and a mummy case is the center of attraction.

Red lights in the ceiling of the room create an eerie look that the pupils want. The painted mummy case, made of cardboard by the pupils, opens and the class is happy to show anyone their mummy, made out of chicken wire and papier mache. A guide explains the Egyptian process for mummifying.

On the walls are murals which class members copied from paintings in books and colored themselves. One tells the story of the sailing ships and the sea serpents.

Another wall is full of hieroglyphics, which the class explains is a design for each word since the Egyptians didn't know the alphabet.

Resting in a corner is the Rosetta Stone, a lightweight replica of it loaned by Robbins Library, with Greek and Egyptian inscriptions. One of the pupils says he can read some of the Greek letters.

Some of the class went to the Museum of Fine Arts where they got ideas for stone carvings. Everyone in the class of 23 made his own carving on plaster of Paris and drew and colored his own Egyptian design.

If they could do it again, the pupils say they would. Their project was more fun than just reading, they say, and they learned more.

15 File Papers For Eight Major Offices; Three Are No Contest

Fifteen candidates of the 18 who took out papers for major office prior to the deadline Jan. 24, filed papers with the Registrars of Voters prior to 5 p.m. Monday.

Five of the six who had taken out papers for the one-year term on the Board of Selectmen filed Monday. These included Ronald A. Nigro, 115 Ronald rd.; Arthur J. Loud, 166 Brooks ave.; Robert B. Walsh, 101 Dow ave.; William W. Doe, 105 Cutter Hill rd. and James J. Lyons, 21 Russell st.

Robert H. Murray, 73 Beacon st. had taken out papers but did not file.

Lyons has told The Advocate he intends to withdraw from the race this week.

Five residents who had taken out papers for three-year terms on the School Committee filed Monday, a sixth did not.

Filing papers were Alexander B. Wilson, 154 Pheasant ave.; William A. Carey, Jr., 118 Lowell st.; Doris M. Cremins, 64 Mt. Vernon st.; Dorothea W. Stein, 41 Jason st., and Eugene P. McCarthy, 31 Governor rd.

Taking out papers prior to the deadline last Thursday but not filing was R. Victor Jones, 21 Kensington rd.

Filing papers for three-year terms on the Board of Assessors were Paul E. Cantrell, 3 Stevens terr., and Daniel A. Purcell, 90 Stowcroft rd.

Filing papers for a five-year term on the Housing Authority was John J. Hogan, 19 Ivy circle. Leo B. Byrne, 31 Franklin st., who had taken out papers did not file.

Town Moderator Lawrence E. Corcoran filed for a three-year term as Town Moderator and Arthur D. Saul, Jr., filed for a three-year term on the Board of Selectmen.

Papers for all those filing were certified early this week.

The final day for filing papers at the Office of the Town Clerk is Feb. 4 at 5 p.m., while the last day for filing for withdrawal is Feb. 5 at 5 p.m.

There are 110 candidates for 84 seats for three-year terms as Town Meeting members. There are at least as many candidates as openings in all but Precinct 14 where there are only three candidates for four vacancies.

There are 14 candidates for eight vacancies for two-year terms and 21 candidates for 14 one-year vacancies.

The following is a breakdown by precinct.

Prec. 1 — Four candidates for four seats in the three-year contest and one candidate for one vacancy in the one-year contest.

Prec. 2 — Six candidates for four seats for three years and one candidate for one spot for two years.

Prec. 3 — Four candidates for four seats for three years; three candidates for one spot for two years.

Prec. 4 — Five candidates for four positions, two candidates for one vacancy and one candidate for one vacancy.

Prec. 5 — Five candidates for four spots and two candidates for one vacancy for one year.

Prec. 6 — Four candidates for four three-year terms.

Hot Meals Planned

School Lunches Got Off To Rough Start, Settled Now

By Kathryn Jorgensen

Imagine being ordered to prepare meals for your family, but your appliances are not available, the electrical work you need done isn't ready, there are red tape delays getting a helper, the hours of your family day change, one day there is snow so no meal is served, and the food you expected to serve is not available.

This might sound like too much to imagine, but it's what has been happening to Pat Isaia, Director of the Arlington School Food Services program.

All state school systems are under state mandate to be serving lunches in school. With reluctance the School Committee last year voted the considerable expenditures to outfit each elementary school with warming and refrigerating equipment and staff to comply with the state law which was supposed to take effect in September.

The plan here was for the local school system to prepare its own meals in a central kitchen and truck the food all over town. The central kitchen will be at the High School, but it is a couple years away with the renovation of the school before that kitchen can prepare food for the whole system.

According to Miss Isaia, the alternative was to then prepare the elementary school lunches at the Thompson School which, with a minimum of expenditure and renovation, could handle the meal preparation.

Come this fall when the lunch program was supposed to be ready the Thompson School was not ready and it still is not, as electrical and plumbing work continue. Because of shortages in steel, wood, plastics and other materials the tables needed for elementary children to eat at were not ready either, so the lunch program was delayed until this month.

Since no school kitchen was ready to prepare the lunches, Miss Isaia had to find an outside firm that would be able to prepare the cold lunches, deliver them to Arlington already packaged, and be willing to do it for a short period. Stop and Shop ended up being chosen after samples from many companies were tried. The company also daily tests its food in labs for bacterial count.

One of the provisions made in budgeting was for a truck to be used to take the centrally-prepared lunches around to the schools. The department got the truck and finally, after long entanglement with Civil Service procedures, got the driver. Miss Isaia expects that Stop and Shop will deliver the lunches to one location and the school truck will make the individual school deliveries, as well as do other food service errands, which will help cut the cost of the purchased meals.

Hot lunches are in the future, hopefully during February, but can't be prepared until all of the electrical work for ovens is ready in all of the schools. Then with the Thompson central kitchen being ready, Miss Isaia expects hot and cold lunch choices can be offered.

The hot lunches will include such student favorites as pizza, for which she is already getting requests, hamburgers, hot dogs, spaghetti, Salisbury steaks and fishburgers. Right now participation for the cold lunches is about 50 percent which is what Miss Isaia expected based on experience in other communities with cold lunches. Hot lunch participation generally is 80-85 per cent.

The first three weeks of the school lunch were "really awful," says Miss Isaia.

First, the published menu was not what was served, because Stop and Shop plans meals a month ahead and prepares the same meals daily for all of its customers and couldn't meet the Arlington requests. The second week a snow day meant that the meal planned for the day of no school was served the next day.

The third week the menu was not published in The Advocate and many mothers called the Food Service Dept. with complaints. Miss Isaia advises parents that the menus are posted in a variety of places in each school and are distributed the week before, so children can find out for their parents what lunches are planned.

Each day Miss Isaia orders about 2000 lunches and she tries carefully to order just the right number so there is as little waste as possible. Because proper refrigeration is not available, she will not save uneaten lunches, but rather throws them out.

No children have gone without lunch if they wanted it she says, but there have been occasions when a school runs short and she has had to dash to another school with extra lunches to borrow some. The order fluctuates somewhat from day to day. Subs are a favorite and she will order 2000. American cheese did not go over as well, so 1600 are ordered. Ham salad was a disaster and Miss Isaia says she will not order that again. When the lunches included cold slaw five out of seven days she complained, and that problem was taken care of.

The lunches served from now on should be what are printed, Miss Isaia advised, but there might always be those unforeseeable reasons it would be different — such as the day of snow and bad weather when Arlington had to send a truck to Boston to pick up the food and it got caught in traffic jams and couldn't get back to Arlington in time. In that case the High School kitchen whipped up a quick batch of sandwiches for the East students. One way or the other, Miss Isaia assures parents that everyone who wants to eat a school lunch will get one.

"I think the program will be successful once we get it debugged," Miss Isaia feels. She says her staff is doing a wonderful job and she and they are looking forward to the Thompson kitchen being completed and serving of hot meals.

What the students get each day is a nutritious meal for 35¢. For this, Miss Isaia points out, students can't get fidgety or exotic foods, but she feels that it is a savings for a family of children who want variety in their sandwiches for whom lunches would cost the family more than 35¢.

Each lunch meets federal and state nutrition requirements and is called a Type A lunch. Miss Isaia adds that the school department is not in a position to cater to special diets for students as some parents have requested.

With the portions of the basis nutrition groups being served the younger children are getting more than they need of protein, vegetables, fruit, bread, butter and the older pupils are getting just what they need.

Miss Isaia says that according to literature she receives and conferences she has attended, the Type A lunch is excellent for growing children. It meets one-third of the daily nutrition requirements and is best for prevention of disease and dental problems.

At a conference on childhood obesity, Miss Isaia says it was reported that children today have a 50 percent chance of being obese, of having a heart disorder, of having hypertension all leading to death at age 50 through heart attack. "This is what we're trying to prevent in eating this way," she says.

Studies also show that many children are malnourished because the foods they eat are not good for them. Malnutrition is not a matter of income, she says. Children from good incomes can be eating improperly. Malnutrition is not a matter of income, she says. Children from good incomes can be eating improperly.

The Advocate visited a couple schools and asked children about the school lunches. Bologna sandwiches seemed to be a big favorite, and subs.

Children said they liked the fruit, they like getting dessert and other favorites were cake and peanut butter and jelly.

Turkey loaf and ham salad did not rate too well. Others said they liked the peanuts and cookies. Another said she liked the potato salad.

Most of the children would rather stay in school than walk home and the older elementary pupils say they will eat lunch in school when hot lunches are served.

Swearing-In Question Is Explained Here

The Secretary of the Board of Selectmen Monday explained that the reason the swearing in of those who have been elected to office is held a week after election rather than the following Monday is because Town Meeting members have to be notified.

Margaret Spengler of the Board of Selectmen had mentioned that a member of the School Committee had expressed concern that such a long period of time was taken between election and swearing in.

Executive Secretary of the Board Frederick Pitcher explained that most of those elected to major office did not wait for the special swearing-in ceremonies but rather were sworn in as soon as possible at the Town Clerk's office.

★ Sports

Mrs. Fogo. When they wanted swimming they had to petition and this year for the first time, starting for the fall, the Athletic Council is supporting that team.

According to figures compiled by Mrs. Gross there are 699 boys' team spots at Arlington High and 155 girls' openings. The girls' volleyball team is the only girls' sport with two teams and has one coach. There is another coaching vacancy in JV softball.

These figures on team positions do not include 30 each for boys' and girls' swimming teams and the figures do not indicate how many different boys and girls actually participate on the teams.

If the mothers' plan for next year is agreed to by the Athletic Council, Mrs. Gross says there will be 351 spots for girls with swimming, and the boys will then have 729 with swimming. If their plan is adopted, 70 percent of the budget for sports would still be spent on boys' teams.

The mothers feel there are a number of budget inequities. For example, they say the boys' teams get uniforms. Football players receive all but their undershorts. The girls have to pass down their long field hockey kilts to the basketball players, must supply their own tights and blouses. The women suggest the Athletic Council come up with a policy on uniforms and which sports will be provided with socks and shoes since the girls have even had to buy their own cleats.

Another area of budget inequities the mothers found was in coaches' salaries. They say the head basketball coach gets $1304 this year. The head girls' basketball coach will get $543. The three assistants for the boys' team receive $869, $869 and $761. There is one girls' assistant coach, the vacant position, and she gets $272.

While they acknowledge the present limited facilities, the mothers feel a survey should be done of all of the teams, their requirements and present facilities. They say the girls' gym, known fondly as "the pit," is half size and the only girls' showers are in the freshman building.

The mothers expect that as more opportunities open up, the girls will come forward with more suggestions for sports. That is how the swimming got started and next year, for the first time, there will be a swimming team budget which will pay for bathing suits, pool rental, transportation and officials.

Here are some of the budget specifics which the mothers have presented to the Athletic Council:

For the 155 girls' team spots the school department now budgets $9003, or a cost of $58 per participant. For the boys' teams, excluding ice rental time, 72,847 was budgeted in 1973 for 699 boys, or a cost of $104 per participant.

There are seven sports for girls and 10 for boys. The girls have 11 squads, the boys have 22, counting the freshman A & B football teams as one.

There are presently 31 boys' coaches, plus one for swimming. The girls have nine coaches and will get one for swimming.

The most expensive sport per participant is football which has a budget of $32,096 and costs $161 per boy. The most expensive girls' sport is basketball with a budget of $2060 and per participant cost of $69.

To develop their cost figures the mothers got budget information from the Athletic Council, the coaches' salaries which are in the school department instructional budget, and figured a per participant cost for boys and girls based on fair share of miscellaneous expenses such as tournaments, salaries of part-time athletic positions, ticket manager, trainer, equipment manager, athletic director.

The figures for the women's sports include what the Athletic Council voted to support on Jan. 21 as well as the sports proposed by the mothers, the per participant fair share and an additional $220 for each girls' team for cleaning and repairing equipment, oranges, two first aid kits and league dues.

With this as background, the mothers say that their specific recommendations for next year's program would cost as follows: gymnastics $6369, 50 girls; lacrosse $2697, 24 girls; three cheerleading squads, $2736, 38 girls; track, $2063, 35 girls. These figures include coaching salaries at this year's rate and the per participant fair share cost.

If the mothers get their way and these new activities are funded the school system will then be spending $35,269 for the 351 girls' teams and $85,140 in 1974-75 for the boys, including salaries and per pupil participant cost factor, but excluding ice and pool rentals and physical plant upkeep costs.

The mothers hope they get support of their program. They feel the school department should act to upgrade girls' sport because of federal and state mandates. Title IX of the Education Acts of 1972 says schools as a condition of receiving federal assistance must make benefits and services available to all without discrimination on basis of sex. Ch. 622 of the Mass. General Laws of 1971 says that the privileges of public schools have to be available to all.

League Is Selling Equal Rts. Bracelet

A state Equal Rights Amendment has been passed by the Mass. House and Senate, meeting in Joint Constitutional Convention. This amendment will become law if approved by the next elected legislature.

In support of ERA, the Arlington League of Women Voters is selling ERA bracelets. A large share of the proceeds from the sale of these bracelets will go to aid the pro-ERA forces in non-ratified states. These bracelets may be purchased from Nancy Gouviea, League public relations chairman.

Arlington Back In Lead In Jr. Hockey

A second period goal by Bill Lyons proved to be the winning marker as Arlington regained sole possession of first place in the Junior Suburban Hockey League by defeating Cambridge Latin 4-1.

Jay Corbett assisted on the play.

In the first period Arlington dominated the contest but held only a 1-0 lead on a goal by Mark Parece. Paul Eichelroth received an assist on the play. Cambridge tied the score on a rebound goal.

Jay Corbett scored early in the third period as he took a good pass from Mark Collins. Collins then scored on a power-play with an assist going to Dave DeCaprio.

In a non-league contest Arlington defeated a much larger sophomore unit from Peabody 4-0.

Bill Lyons opened the scoring thirty seconds after the opening face-off and Arlington never had to look back.

Arlington scored two power-play goals.

Bantams Win, Lose

The Arlington-Menotomy Bantams lost 8-1 to Wilmington last week, but held their lead in the Middlesex Bantam A League by defeating Waltham 6-1.

Goal scorers in the Waltham game were Jerry Sullivan, two and Bud Macchia, Brad Nelson and Jim Villandry, one.

Assists were credited to Bob O'Neil, Mark O'Rourke, Steve Toronto, Brad Nelson and Paul Desmond.

The team record to date is 22 wins, 7 losses and one tie.

pay plan is requested under Article 9 which would grant 20 cents more per hour to public works personnel when assigned to the night shift. An appropriation of $4,992 will be requested.

An appropriation of $15,552 will be requested under Article 11 for merit increases for the Director of Public Works, Police and Fire Chiefs, Director of Planning and Community Development, Director of Properties and Natural Resources, Town Engineer, Town Counsel, Library Director, Director of Human Resources and Assistant Town Manager.

A request has been made under Article 12 for a merit salary increase for the Inspector of Buildings. This article was inserted by the Town Manager.

A request for the town to pay an additional 25 percent of the premium for contributory group health insurance is requested under Article 13. The town now pays 50 percent. A sum of $190,000 is requested. The Town Manager inserted this article.

The manager also inserted Article 14 asking that employees who have one year of service receive two days per year leave of absence with pay.

Ten registered voters have inserted an article seeking an increase in money figures for fire personnel grades 1 through 4 by $1,300.

Ten voters have also requested under Article 17 that a 15 percent differential in pay be established in Grades 1 through 4 of the fire department.

Under Article 18, 15 percent differential in pay is requested between police grades 2 through 5.

Under Article 19 longevity pay is requested for all police officers who have completed 20 years of service and who are not receiving additional compensation under the career incentive program. Articles 16 and 19 were inserted by 10 registered voters.

Ten registered voters request longevity pay for fire personnel in the amount of $100 per year for every five years with a maximum of $500.

Article 21 requests compensation for fire personnel with credits at colleges and university. Ten registered voters inserted this article.

Articles 22, 23 and 24 request funds to cover medical expenses for three Arlington firefighters. All three articles were inserted by the Town Manager.

Another article inserted by the Town Manager, Personnel Board and Selectmen requests an appropriation for a professional comprehensive study in regard to job classification of Town employees.

Articles 27 and 28 request funds for expenses incurred outside the Commonwealth. One was inserted by the Town Manager. The other was inserted by the Finance Committee.

A request to lay out Grove st. place will be discussed under Article 30, while a request to lay out Summit st. will be discussed under Article 31.

Articles 32 through 42 concern such items as appropriation for water mains, storm drains, sewerage extension, street construction and construction and reconstruction of sidewalks and edgestones.

Under Article 43 is the discussion of School Committee Needs $26,500 More For Transportation

The School Committee is seeking a transfer of $26,500 from the Finance Committee to pay for transportation of special education students which was not covered in the budget.

According to Asst. Supt. Richard Connolly last year's budget included $22,000 for special education transportation, but costs are now estimated as running to $48,500. Half is reimbursable by the state.

The state requires that every special education child be provided with an educational program. If it is not offered in the home town the local school department must pay to transport the child to another program.

Supt. of Schools William Gibbs says the biggest problem is that the special education programs change constantly, yet most of the children go to classes about the same time and in different towns, so one school bus, for instance, cannot be used for all.

Many of the children are transported by taxi, which Connolly says is the cheapest way right now. When possible, taxis and programs are shared with other towns.

The administration was asked to look into other alternatives which might be cheaper to transport the students.

Hearings Set On Playgrounds

The Recreation Facilities Committee has set dates for public preliminary hearings on the four playground sites scheduled for upgrading next year: (1) Spy Pond (2) North Union (Thompson) (3) Poet's School and (4) Stratton School. Landscape architects have been engaged to sketch and lay out suggested improvements in these areas.

If the Finance Committee approves these expenditures and the March Town Meeting concurs, the landscape architects will continue to refine their designs, after consulting with various town officials and the community at large.

At the same time, preliminary plans will be submitted to the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation (BOR) in the hopes of obtaining 50 percent funding to rehabilitate these four areas, according to chairman Ed Tsai.

The BOR did agree to reimburse the town for half of the cost of upgrading Summer and Crosby Street playgrounds. Plans for both these sites and the four school areas included in Year One of the Capital Improvement Program are now being completed preparatory to going out for bid.

Please note time and place for the following public hearings.

(1) North Union — at the Thompson School auditorium tomorrow at 7:30 p.m.

(2) Spy Pond — at the Town Hall auditorium on Monday at 7:30 p.m.

(3) Poet's Corner — at the Dallin School Auditorium on Monday at 7:30 p.m.

(4) Stratton — at the Stratton School auditorium on Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Ten registered voters have inserted two articles relative to amendments to the by-laws in connection with the building moratorium.

The Town Manager has inserted an article which would grant him the power to remove a member of a board or commission.

Article 69, if approved, would give the Town Manager the power to employ special counsel.

Article 70 would authorize and direct the Board of Selectmen on behalf of the town to memorialize the General Court to desist from mandating educational programs, the cost of which is to be borne by the property tax.

Articles 71 and 72 would transfer Meadow Brook Park and several parcels of land to the Conservation Commission. The Town Meeting is requested under Article 73 to vote to acquire land for conservation, recreation or open space purposes. The land is located on Mystic st.

Articles 71 and 72 were inserted by the Conservation Commission and Article 73 by the Conservation Commission and the Recreation Department.

The Park and Recreation Commission has inserted an article to acquire land on Pond lane.

Under Article 77 the Town Manager has requested rules and regulations relative to drinking on public ways, playgrounds, etc.

The Manager has also requested an amendment which would reduce the number of days dogs will be held at the dog pound from 10 to 5.

The Town Manager has also inserted Article 79 which would prohibit leaving vehicles on private ways, in order to maintain fire lanes.

Ten registered voters are requesting under Article 80 that all parks in the community with the exception of the North Union st. playground close at 9 p.m. That park would close at 11 p.m.

Article 81, if passed, would change the closing date for insertion of material for the Town Report from Jan. 15 until Aug. 15.

The Town Manager has requested under Article 83 that the Inspector of Buildings in the Department of Fire Department and Inspections shall be known as the Building Official.

The Town Manager has inserted under Article 84 a request for rules and regulations governing hawkers and peddlers.

Ten registered voters have requested an article relative to retirement rules under Article 85.

Articles 86 and 87 concern a request for funds relative to paper recycling.

Ten registered voters have requested funds for the celebration of Uncle Sam Day in mid-September.

The Data Processing Committee has asked for funds to improve that system under Article 89, while funds have been requested for use by the Alcoholic Beverage Advisory Committee under Article 90.

Ten registered voters have requested the appointment of a five-member revaluation study committee under Article 91.

The Town Manager has inserted an article asking for funds for public safety and emergency purposes in connection with Patriots' Day safety in 1975.

Articles 93 and 94 request funds relative to the 200th anniversary celebration.

The Board of Assessors has requested additional compensation for Assessors and Assistant Assessors who have completed certain courses.

The Town Meeting Procedure Committee under Article 96 has requested the formation of a committee to study pending legislation. The committee would be composed of five members.

A request is made under Article 97 for the formation of a committee to look into the need to establish a community-based women's center in the town.

Articles 98 and 99 concern Christmas lighting and funds for Arlington Barracks 2701 WWI.

A sum of $41,000 is requested under Article 100 to be transferred to the Mt. Pleasant Cemetery sale of lots and graves to Cemetery Commission.

Bantam Intramural

The Arlington-Menotomy Hockey Club's Bantam Intramural League consists of six teams. The first place team is the Blackhawks, coached by Wally Raymond and Arthur Ales.

The top team scorers for the Blackhawks are the Curran brothers, Mike and Joe, and Joe Daly. The other members of the team who are also doing an outstanding job are:

The second place team is the Red Wings coached by Rick Vallerelli and Joe Conway. The outstanding players for this team are Tom Crepeau and Steve Geldart.

The other members of this team doing a fine job are James Bray, Jim Cummings, Mark Demarkles, Aram Haroutounian, Mike Ioanna, Doug Lawson, Scott McGaskill, James Moran, James Pinard, Steve Spengler, and goalie Richard Tami.

The Canadians, coached by Dominic Apprille, are in third place. This team is lead by the outstanding play of Jim Byrne, Ed Hogan and Rick Purcell. The other members who help to keep this team winning are: James and John Albertini, Rich Barrett, Anthony Carter, Tom Devine, Chuck Duddy, Duke Lombard, Brian MacDonald, Art Murphy, and goalie Brian Igo.

The fourth place team coached by Kevin White is the Bruins. Jay Corbett, Joe Feeney and Scott Nason are the top players of the Bruins. Rich Conte, Bob Dunn, Tom Galligan, Steve Malatesta, Tim McCarthy, Gary McGourty, Bob Molissac, Bill Pease, Al Sreter, Jack Touloupoulos, and goalie Jim Marsden all have played exceptionally well for their team.

The two teams which are, at the bottom of the league but, are playing some excellent games are the Blues coached by John Vallerelli, Tom Salemm, and Bill Bolt and the Canucks coached by Larry Broderick and Bill Hayward.

Outstanding players for the Blues are Deeb Honsi, the Roach brothers, and Tom Salani. The National Pastime

We may grumble a bit about the high cost of living, ecology, and the gas and oil shortage, plus the many problems affecting our lives and the country, but last Thursday evening at the Hotel Statler 1800 fans sat in on the 35th Baseball Writers dinner to honor past and present baseball players, and when you have that attendance in the middle of January, then all is far from bad.

It's in pretty good hands, as those sitting in represent a great cross section of our area, and they come back year after year saying again and again, "this is the year." Baseball players, and celebrities come from all over our country to this annual feast, and it is a high class "dressed-up" affair with all head table guests dressed in their "soup and fish."

The only time a guest was allowed to sit up on the dais was Bill Veeck, who was an amputee, and was allergic to anything near his neck. Another non black tie wearer was Ted Williams, but on his only appearance at this banquet he wore the black tie. One guesses it is because the years dash by so quickly, but the athletes of today look like a fine group of young college boys. But there is no substitute for youth, and a baseball scout wants to look at a player in the 18 to 22 years, as when they attain the age of 28 or 30 they are on their way out physically.

Baseball is still the National pastime, but it was a misnomer until 1947 when the first colored boy arrived in the National League, named Jackie Robinson, and in the American League the next year, Larry Doby. And up in Cooperstown enshrined in the Hall of Fame is the name of Jackie Robinson.

Prejudice is on the way out, and spring is just around the corner. Henry Aaron received the Judge Fuch award for long and meritorious service, and received a tremendous ovation from the fans. Luis Tiant and Tommy Harper received awards, and many others were presented by the toastmaster Curt Gowdy. The outgoing president of the American League, Joe Cronin, and the new prexy, Larry McPhail, spoke, as did Earl Weaver of Baltimore and Dick Williams, formerly with the Red Sox. According to him he is out of baseball for at least two years, due to his dislike for the owner of the Oakland Team, Mr. Finley.

Another speaker, and known to movie fans all over the nation, was Gene Autry, now owner of the California Angels. Arlington has been the home for many writers of sports for our Boston papers, and some of these names come to mind: Herman Nickerson, Burt Whitman, Larry Sweeney, Arthur Duffy, Tim Horgan, George and Tom Carens, Walter Grannan, and Donald Ross, who today writes the fine travel stories for the Herald Traveler. Larry Sweeney was boxing editor for the Boston Globe, and he covered the Jack Dempsey-Tom Gibbons fight in Shelby, Montana, and traveling with him was a new reporter from the Boston Post named Bill Cunningham. Arthur Duffy was the first human to break the 10-second mark for the 100 yard dash, and that record stood for many years.

But today about every record has been broken, and they still are turning in fantastic performances in all sporting events. So with the days getting longer, and sun hotter, it won't be long before Fenway Park will be ringing with the crowd singing the National Anthem, and the umpire crying "play ball." I guess most kids who ever played ball had visions of some day being a Big Leaguer, and the writer knew one of those athletes who was a born 300 hitter, but was in a slump all his life. And a friend of his, went South with the Red Sox for a tryout, and after two weeks wired home to his Mother, "Send me the fare home, Ma, they are starting to curve me."

P.S. The highlight of the evening was that not one mention was made of a game called football.

Taxpayers' Assn.

TO THE EDITOR:

I appreciate your allowing this appeal for concerned Arlington residents to join the Arlington Taxpayers' Assn. for the good of all.

We need individuals who believe in our government (and also their pocketbooks), local, state and national, and who will support, get involved, by participation in any degree their time allows. (No radicals, please.)

Level-headed souls who can lead are most welcome as are supporters and followers who can contribute time, ideas and meet the challenge of our changing times. It's time for a change for the taxpayer now.

We, the taxpayers, have to reverse the tax rate which affects us all by lobbying (like all the other pressure groups, special interest groups, utilities, insurance companies, unions etc.) to bring about change against waste, unnecessary expenditures etc. in a fair and equitable way. You all see and read about it all the time, but are you ready to do something about it?

We need other methods of raising taxes other than gouging the homeowner each and every year.

Do yourself a favor for 1974 and send your name, address and phone number on postcard or 3x5 card to Arlington Taxpayers' Assn., Box 266, Arlington, Mass. 02174.

Family Night

TO THE EDITOR:

It was a heart warming scene last Friday evening as I visited the locations of the Recreation Department's Family Fun Night to see so many families engaged in wholesome activities. Mothers, dads and children from pre-school to high schoolers took part in the program.

The response to this first attempt at family-oriented recreation was excellent. Approximately 250 people took part in the program which represented about 80 to 90 families. The Dallin, Thompson and Stratton Schools were full to capacity and everybody was doing something.

One disappointing factor was the turnout at the Freshman Gym at the high school. This is the largest and best equipped gym of the four sites, yet only a dozen people took advantage of the program. A few factors such as another function at a nearby school and the gym not being a neighborhood school gym may have affected the attendance. However, on the other side, the gym is centrally located near schools which do not have a full-sized gymnasium. If attendance does not improve at this site we will cancel the program there.

In conclusion, I feel that the family unit is the key unit to our future. So often various organizations and groups, including recreation, tend to splinter the family unit. We hope the effort last Friday will be the first step in the area of family recreation.

The program will continue for the next nine Friday nights and I certainly hope many families take advantage of the program. As one man said to me as I was leaving one gym last Friday, "This is great and the price is right." The program is free to all.

Sincerely,
Daniel F. Brosnan, Jr.
Asst. Supt. of Recreation

Other Arlingtons

TO THE EDITOR:

I have been curious about how common the name of Arlington is in the United States, and have consulted several recent atlases. I found that 28 states besides Massachusetts have a community of that name.

They are: Alabama, Arizona, California, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Minnesota, Missouri.

And Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Oregon, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, Wisconsin, Wyoming.

To me it would seem that those who favor a change to Menotomy have a much better argument in this confusion of Arlingtons than in the historical facts more commonly presented.

It is argued that our zip number -02174—is ours alone and identifies Arlington, Massachusetts. However, a carelessly handwritten "Ma" might easily be confused with "Mn," "Mo" or even "Md."

As for those making jokes about "Menotomy" and "monotomy," let them remember that it would be our Revolutionary heroes, the "Men of Menotomy," whom the change of name would honor.

The name Menotomy would be distinctive.

Cordially yours,
Chester F. Protheroe

Citizens For Life

TO THE EDITOR:

For anyone interested in financially aiding the Mass. Citizens for Life - Arlington Chapter and at the same time having a wonderful evening of entertainment (that's if you are a dancer) we're holding a Snowball Dance Friday evening, Feb. 8 at 8 p.m. at St. Camillus Hall.

Jerry Davis and his 10 piece orchestra are providing the music. This is the same band who played at the Paper for Parks dance last year.

Come and have a good time and help a cause that deserves your support. For tickets contact Irene Regan or me. See you there.

Yours truly,
Peg Walden, Chairman

Questions Handling

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following letter sent to the Advocate was addressed to the Superintendent of Schools.

I am a resident of Arlington and during the month of August, 1972, I applied for a teaching position with the Arlington Public Schools. It was the month of September, 1972 when I received a postal card from your office stating that my application was accepted, was on file, and that I would be advised to come in for an interview if there was indication of an opening.

It was May, 1973 when I received a letter from Mrs. C. Patricia Zelles stating that I should call her at the Stratton School to arrange for an interview. I was interviewed by Mrs. Zelles; I felt that the interview was a good one with several positive overtones.

At the time of this visit to the Stratton School, I met Mrs. Louise McLaughlin who was in the process of compiling a special report to the Superintendent and School Committee on the Arlington METCO Program. Mrs. McLaughlin was completing her field work (for the Masters Degree) at Stratton; she indicated to me the need for qualified black teachers in Arlington. I told her that my purpose of that visit at the Stratton was an interview for a possible position. She was pleased to know this.

The summer passes and no word from 23 Maple Street. The time is October, 1973 and there is a School Committee meeting where in essence, it is stated that they had no qualified black applicants for teaching positions in Arlington. (I understand that this is the standard jargon; however, I was humiliated and quite displeased by this gross untruth.)

It was Monday, 26 November 1973, that I visited the School Department at 23 Maple Street to check the status of my application. As the above statement was quite inaccurate. Upon talking with the Superintendent's secretary, she informed me that there was no file of my application at their office. This, I could not accept for I recall quite vividly my filing an application, receiving a postal card of acceptance, and also an interview with Mrs. Zelles. How could this be?

I was then advised that my application was sent to the school from which I graduated (Chicago State University) - this appeared very strange and incoherent to me. What role did they play in receiving an application for which I applied to Arlington? The secretary further indicated that this was their policy; I suggested that they stipulate this archaic policy somewhere in their application form. This whole procedure is "absurd" and so is this action.

The following week I attended a meeting at the home of Mrs. Oppedisano where three School Committee members were present and also another black woman with whom this same ambiguous procedure had occurred.

Is the above procedure a standard one in the Arlington schools? Why doesn't Arlington have qualified black applicants on file? What is Arlington's position on recruiting black applicants? How many black teachers are there in Arlington? How many black youngsters are there in the Arlington Schools? Why must one go through so many changes in applying for a position with the Arlington Public Schools? What really happened to my application?

Dear Mr. Superintendent, will you kindly acknowledge receipt of this letter? I am,

Sincerely yours,
Rose A. Lester
15 Cleveland Street

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following letter was written Jan. 24 by Supt. William T. Gibbs:

Your letter of December 20, 1973, was delivered to my office at 23 Maple Street on January 10, 1974. I have asked the persons involved in handling your application for the necessary information to form this reply.

Your application was received and filed on August 2, 1972, as you indicated, and, on your application you indicated a preference for a position in Grades 3 - 8. I have also verified that you were interviewed by Mrs. Zelles in May, 1973, and that no interview had been scheduled before this time because there were no vacancies in the system. The month of May would be the normal time for most applicants to be interviewed.

In your interview with Mrs. Zelles, several facts were noted. First, you have had no teaching experience other than student teaching. This fact, of itself, has no great significance, since we do hire some inexperienced teachers. However, I have also noted that your undergraduate record shows an approximate "C plus" average, and because the School Committee still operates with a policy which requires inexperienced teachers to be within the top quarter of their class, in this respect, you would not be qualified except in an emergency situation. This particular policy has been in force for many years.

When you came into the Administration Office to check the status of your application, November 26, 1973, you were referred to Mrs. Fitzpatrick, secretary to Mr. Lanni who is Assistant Superintendent for Elementary Education, because you reported that your application was for an elementary position. This was a logical assumption on your part, and upon the part of the secretary. When the application was located, it was found in the Secondary Education file because, at the time of your interview, you had indicated a preference for the 7th and 8th grade social studies. In Arlington, I am sure you realize, 7th and 8th is secondary education.

In regard to processing applications, may I say that we write to the placement office named in each application and ask for references. As soon as the references are received and reviewed, they are returned to the university placement files. This procedure was followed in your case, and, as I wrote above, your application was held in the Secondary Education file.

One other concern was also checked in this investigation, that of whether or not you had asked to have your name placed upon the substitute list. You had asked and your name was placed on this list. However, you did withdraw your name from that list because you said you had obtained full-time employment.

I am satisfied that your application was

That Man About Town

...by MAT

Peg Spengler suggested this week that the Board of Selectmen review their policies and procedures. The School Committee has been doing this for years and the Selectmen could stand a little review.

One thing the School Committee does that we like is their handling of new business. They have no catchall on their agenda that allows members to bring up anything and everything to the surprise of everyone. (The article in this warrant for definition of a family is the result of a discussion of that question under new business at the Selectmen's meeting one night.)

School Committee business is on the agenda and sometimes a member brings up something under correspondence if he has received a call or letter. Some things are referred directly to the superintendent. The Selectmen, on the other hand, seem to make little effort to put on the agenda topics they plan to bring up. Some nights as much comes up under new business as there was on the agenda. And some of these items are meaty enough that they should be on the agenda so anyone interested will know they will be discussed.

The Town Meeting Assn. meets tonight at 8 p.m. at the Fox Library. Scheduled for presentations are the Town Manager, Selectmen and state legislators.

Town Manager Don Marquis has been selected to serve on a 12-member New England Municipal Task Force on Energy. The group was formed by the New England Municipal Center, the Mass. League of Cities and Towns and the other five state municipal associations to consider the long-range implications of the energy crisis on the delivery of municipal government service.

There were few changes in the political picture during the past week. Bob Murray decided he wanted to stay on the School Committee and did not file papers for Selectman. That apparently prompted Victor Jones to not file his papers for School Committee.

A newcomer to the Selectmen's race was Jim Lyons, cousin of Charlie who was Arlington's youngest major officeholder when he was elected to the School Committee two years ago. We hear Jim, a student at Brandeis, decided against running this year, but is giving it thought for another time.

A surprise to many who looked at the coming elections a few months back is that Arthur Saul is having the easiest time ever with no opposition for the three-year spot. We also notice that a lot more people took out papers for town meeting, even though there are a few precincts with no contests and a few opportunities for write-ins.

The final count showed 103 warrant articles, and many of these are the usual duplications on pay and benefits and what should be easy ones on streets and the like.

The definition of a family is back with us again. A couple weeks ago the boss called Rep. Peter Harrington of Newton who authored a new law on lodging houses to find out if his law applied to the local concerns. The representative said his law reduced from five to four the number of persons who could live in a lodging house which would then have to be licensed as such.

He says his law was aimed at regulating the business of lodging houses and has nothing to do with apartments and houses and is not aimed at communes. Rep. Harrington has filed legislation in this session to define a family, however.

In these days of women's lib, it's surprising how little has been said publicly about the state of girls' athletics in the schools.

The boss has a story this week with some background dug up by mothers of girl athletes at Arlington High pointing up some of the inequities. To be blunt and say what the mothers haven't said, this town for too long has gone overboard for varsity sports, and for winning hockey and football teams in particular.

What this town needs is some chances for the less-than-varsity-caliber player, boy or girl, to have fun playing a sport. According to the mothers, there are a lot more opportunities for boys than girls and the funding of their programs is inequitable.

It isn't impossible for a town department to have a balanced athletic program - just look at the Recreation Department which has opened up sports to hundreds of kids with a rule that every kid on a team gets to play, and they have instituted many girls' and coed programs. That's the way it should be in our schools too, and the new community-school field house complex should make some of this possible.

properly handled, and that you did receive a satisfactory interview. It is unfortunate that the file did not have a cross reference indicating that your application had been transferred, and we have taken steps to minimize the possibility of such an occurrence being repeated. It is also unfortunate that in the interview process that you were not specifically apprised of the need to be in the top quarter of your class to be hired without teaching experience.

The School Committee and administration at various levels have reviewed hiring practices and will continue to do so. They are particularly aware of the difficulties encountered by all applicants in these days when the supply of teachers greatly exceeds the demand. They are also very conscious of the need to have qualified minority professionals on staff in this changing society of ours for many different reasons.

Visiting Granddaughters

TO THE EDITOR:

A considerable number of high school girls are actively proving that teenagers can make a real contribution to the welfare of individuals and the community. These are the "visiting granddaughters" who have been doing housework for elderly people in Arlington.

They do many and different chores—vacuuming, dusting, cleaning, bathrooms, kitchens, washing floors, preparing food, changing beds, shopping—whatever a person needs done. They may go to a particular job once a week, or every other week, or as in one situation six days a week—either after school or weekends. They earn $1.50 an hour for their work, paid by the employers.

The program is good for the girls and good for the employers. Most of the elderly have small quarters and need only an hour or two a time, not enough time to pay a professional who depends on earnings for a livelihood.

For the girls what they earn is important. And while the girls don't have the expertise of a professional they are open to doing things the way the householder directs. The employer helps the girls learn.

Some of the girls in the program have been going to the same ladies for a year and a half. The program was started in the high school last year.

Anyone interested in having the help of a "granddaughter" may telephone the home economics department or guidance department at the school. Before the girls is assigned, a visit will be made to the home by a teacher.

Resigns

TO THE EDITOR:

It was with much chagrin that I resigned on Jan. 10, 1974 as a Town Meeting member from Prec. 7. Since I will be away from Arlington during the spring, I felt that it was best to resign in mid-January so that the position which I held may be contested at the March election.

To all those who were interested enough to contact me on issues which came before the Town Meeting during my term in office, I offer my sincere thanks.

It now appears as though there will be vacancies in the Town Meeting for which there will not be any candidates. I strongly urge each voter who resides in a precinct where such a situation exists to consider running as a write-in candidate at the March election.

The Town Meeting desperately needs concerned citizens who are willing to devote some of their time to town government. If there is one lesson to have learned from the turmoil in Washington it is that each of us, as individual citizens, has a responsibility to keep ourselves informed about governmental affairs, and, whenever possible, to become personally involved.

When we abdicate this responsibility, when we become apathetic, we allow the very democratic nature of the republic to be threatened.

It is my hope that many of you who live in precincts which are in need of candidates will decide to render your ideas and talents to the community by running for Town Meeting member.

Yours truly,
Peter Flynn

Selectmen Vote To Review Procedures

Selectman Margaret Spengler Monday night suggested to the Board of Selectmen that a committee be formed to review procedures of the Board.

The sub-committee will be composed of two members of the Board, who will work with the Town Manager and the Executive Secretary of the Selectmen.

Two Questions

Survey Underway Till 4th
On Local Alcoholic Sales

The Alcoholic Beverage Advisory Committee (ABAC) is conducting a town-wide survey regarding the two alcoholic beverage questions which could appear on the 1974 state ballot for Arlington in November.

The two questions are:
1. Shall licenses be granted in this town for the sale therein of all alcoholic beverages in packages, so-called, not to be drunk on the premises?
2. Shall licenses be granted in this town for the sale therein of alcoholic beverages by restaurants and function rooms having a seating capacity of not less than 100 persons?

Reactions to these questions being placed on the ballot should be sent by Feb. 4 to ABAC chairman Rico Merluzzo, 244 Ridge St. A questionnaire also appears in The Advocate. A public meeting will be held Feb. 11.

These questions require petition to the Secretary of State to qualify for their placement on the ballot.

The ABAC has compiled the following information in a so-called fact sheet to assist residents in responding to the questionnaire. The ABAC takes no position for or against the alcoholic beverage questions, according to Merluzzo.

According to the fact sheet:
1. In order to place the Alcoholic Beverage questions on the ballot, the State Law requires petitions from the registered voters of the Town as follows: (a) "Package Store" Question — 5 percent of the registered voters. (b) "Restaurant and Function Room" Question — 10 percent of the registered voters.

2. Arlington has an estimated population of 53,500 persons of whom approximately 32,000 are registered voters.

3. The Board of Selectmen is the Arlington Licensing Authority.

4. The ultimate authority is the Alcoholic Beverage Control Commission of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Opposes Taking Yard

Eugene P. McCarthy Is
School Board Candidate

Eugene P. McCarthy has issued the following statement on his candidacy for School Committee:

As a 10-year resident of Arlington, a Boston schoolteacher, and a veteran of World War II, I would like to announce my candidacy for the Arlington School Committee.

I see two critical issues in this year's election. The first I believe is the question of fiscal autonomy. As you may know, there has traditionally been no system of checks and balances for the Town Meeting on previous School Committee budgets. Consequently, I feel that the so-called 4-5 rule-by which the Town Meeting would have review power over the budget should be passed.

The second issue is the high school expansion package. There is little doubt that we need a new high school building to replace the antiquated 'A' building presently in use. Yet, the proposal to take over the town yard and expand it for almost entirely recreational facilities cannot be justified.

Arlington already has recreational facilities that any town would envy. And more important, we can ill afford to drive up our already spiraling tax rate, especially in a time of fiscal austerity. Rising construction costs, in addition to our present facilities in the town make it imperative that we re-evaluate this proposal.

Finally, I hope to retain some semblance monwealth of Massachusetts.

5. The local licensing authority may issue one license for each 5000 residents or any fraction thereof for package stores.

6. The local licensing authority may issue one license for each 1000 residents or any fraction thereof for restaurants and function rooms.

7. A recent economic and market analysis prepared for the Town of Arlington indicates a need for additional quality restaurants and stated that a liquor store would offer additional potential to the business development of the town.

8. Most recent election results in Arlington: (a) "Package Store" licenses — narrowly defeated by 274 votes. (b) "Hotel" licenses — voted by 8497 votes. (c) "Club" licenses — voted by 6988 votes.

9. In the six surrounding towns, Medford, Somerville, Cambridge, and Lexington have provided for the sale of alcoholic beverages in their respective towns.

10. Spending habits in the town indicate a potential loss of sales of approximately $1,500,000 to neighboring communities which do provide for the sale of alcoholic beverages in package stores or restaurants.

The Board of Selectmen has accepted the ABAC plan and supports the survey. The plan is designed to solicit the opinions of the voters, business community and the social organizations.

A public meeting will be held Feb. 11, at the Town Hall Auditorium.

Merluzzo urges town wide participation in support of the work that the committee members have put forth to assure consideration of citizen opinions prior to the ABAC formulating their recommendations to the Board of Selectmen.

Any person interested in assisting the committee is requested to indicate so when returning the questionnaire.

Eugene P. McCarthy

of responsibility and fiscal checks and balances to the community. In a time of widespread apathy and discouragement in our political system, I would strongly urge the voters to seriously consider the issues in this year's election, and above all, vote.

Preservation Films
To Be Shown By
Historical Groups

How can old buildings be saved? What new uses can be found for them? What has been done elsewhere? What can be done in Arlington? The public is invited to an evening of color films dealing with these questions of architectural and historic preservation on Feb. 13 at 7:30 p.m. in the Fox Library.

Four films from the National Trust for Historic Preservation and the Mobile, Ala., Historic Development Commission will be shown: "Down Friday Street," the destruction of a Victorian mansion; "The Landmark Challenge," historic preservation efforts in Mobile; "The Old Post Office," suggests how to find an adaptive use for a building; "A Future for the Past," planning and preservation efforts in English towns.

The evening is sponsored by the Arlington Historical Commission and the Arlington Historical Society. Refreshments will be served.

St. Agnes Bands
Plan Two Concerts

The St. Agnes CYO Bands of Arlington will present their 16th Annual Concert Sunday and Monday evenings, Feb. 17 and 18, 8 p.m. at Lowe Memorial Auditorium, Arlington High School.

The St. Agnes Junior Band, conducted by Stephen Young, will open the show playing selections including "Candyman," "More," "Masterpiece Theme," and "Sing" from Sesame Street.

The St. Agnes Senior Band, under the direction of Edward Denon, will conclude the first segment with the Morton Gould arrangement of "Jericho," the theme from Mahler's "Fifth Symphony," selections from "My Fair Lady" and "Roar of the Greasepaint" by Briceuse, and previews of the 1974 field routine.

For the second half of the concert the Seniors will present a Salute to George Gershwin, which will include the performance of "Rhapsody in Blue" with Anne Cayer as piano soloist.

Sen. John M. Quinlan

Sen. John Quinlan
To Be Here Friday

Tomorrow evening Sen. John Quinlan will be guest speaker at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Rugg, 16 Spring St. This program is sponsored by the Arlington Women's Republican Club and is open to all residents.

Senator Quinlan was educated at Harvard College, served in the military, taught on the high school level and served in administrative capacities in many civic and charitable endeavors. He serves the Bristol-Norfolk-Plymouth district.

Plans for this meeting were made at a recent board meeting of the club held at the home of Elizabeth Ray. Present at that meeting were president, Mrs. George Rugg; Mrs. William Barone, Republican State Committeewoman; Mrs. O. Melvin Bond, Mrs. Joseph Barbone, Mrs. Gus Ciano, Mrs. Raymond Eaton, Mrs. Hollis Gott, Mrs. Kenneth Joel, Mrs. George Hillier, Mrs. Stanley Stewart, Mrs. Thelma Sarnow, Mrs. Nelson Sturgis and Mrs. S. Peter Tassinari.

One-Year Term

Robert B. Walsh Seeks Election As Selectman

Robert B. Walsh, age 47, 101 Dow ave., a lifelong resident, has announced his candidacy for the Board of Selectmen, for the one year term. He has issued the following background information.

Walsh is employed as a regional home office representative of a major life insurance company. In this capacity his responsibilities are the identification, investigation and resolving of important and sensitive problems.

He is in contact with State Insurance Commissioner offices, medical and legal professions, hospitals, law enforcement agencies, management personnel and the general public. "The training, knowledge, skills and techniques of my profession are the qualifications I offer in service on the Board of Selectmen," Walsh said.

Walsh's interest in Arlington has been shown by many years of volunteer public service. He has been a Town Meeting Member of Precinct 12, his birthplace. Precinct 1, where he resided following marriage, and in Precinct 18, where he is presently a home owner. He was, until his resignation this week, a vice chairman of the Finance Committee.

During the 1950's, Walsh was associated with Arlington Little League as a coach and subsequently president. He was a founding member of the Arlington Youth Council 1957-1959 and served as vice chairman. He has been a CCD teacher at St. James Church and a CYO Advisor at St. Camillus Church. He has participated in many fund drives.

"My interest in Arlington has never waned," Walsh said. "I can never remember a time in my adult life when I was not involved in some community effort. I have always felt that my neighbors, through their taxes, have helped to educate and provide a comfortable place for my wife, Adele, and to raise our seven children and community involvement sort of balanced the ledger for us.

"Moreover, by example, we hope that our children will make even a more meaningful commitment and contribution to their future communities," he continued.

"As all of the citizens of Arlington are concerned about the issues confronting us today, so am I. I believe that the Board of Selectmen can play a leadership role in coming to grips with these concerns, addressing themselves to priorities and positions of positive action. As the campaign develops, in the next few weeks, I will speak to these concerns and issues," Walsh promises.

FinCom Sets More Hearings

The Finance Committee will hold the balance of its hearings on warrant articles from Feb. 2 through Feb. 16.

As there is less time for hearings before town meeting this year, due to the warrant closing a week later than usual, Executive Secretary Richard Smith asks that requests for changes in the schedule be made to him as soon as possible.

Proponents of articles are asked to give 22 copies of written material to him as soon before the hearings as possible and should be prepared to furnish estimates of dollar amounts and explanations of how figures were obtained.

Anyone planning to appear in opposition to an article should also notify Smith to insure sufficient time for his presentation. It is also suggested that others planning to attend hearings verify times with Smith.

A number of hearings were held last Saturday. The balance of the hearings are as follows:

Saturday, February 2

9:30 - Article 100 - Appropriation for Cemetery Commissioners

10 - Article 80 - Closing hours of playgrounds

10:30 - Articles 86, 87 - Paper for Parks

Regional School Will Be Topic Wednesday Night

On Wednesday at 8 p.m. students and parents are invited to an important meeting concerning the new Minuteman Regional Technical Vocational School which is to open in September 1974. This meeting will take place at the Stratton School, 180 Mountain ave.

Members of the Minuteman Regional Technical Vocational School will speak about the new school. Some of the items which are to be discussed are how and where to apply, selection process, types of programs to be offered, length of day and transportation schedule.

This week students were invited to attend meetings in various locations in the town to hear the Special Program Coordinator from the Minuteman Regional Technical Vocational School speak about the school. This meeting will give parents an opportunity to ask questions about the new school so they will feel able to help their children make decisions about this new opportunity.

Fidelity House Has Programs For Adults

Despite the fact that Fidelity House is primarily a Center, adults are not forgotten, especially golden agers.

The Kafee Klatsch under the direction of Sr. M. Lament meets socially at Fidelity House every Tuesday and Thursday morning. The Damien Guild, a group of ladies under the direction of Mrs. Hugh Mulligan, meets every Thursday morning and works for the benefit of the lepers.

Three separate Diet Workshop groups meet at Fidelity House on Tuesday at 7 p.m., Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. and at 7 p.m.

Adults men's volleyball is held every Monday evening at 8, while the Adult men's basketball league plays every Tuesday evening.

The Friends of Fidelity House, a group of men who are dedicated to helping our youth, meet and work regularly to insure continued service to the people of Arlington. Beano is offered every Thursday evening. For further information, call Fidelity House.

Two new youth programs are now getting underway at Fidelity House. A gymnastic program for girls grades 1-4 and a program called "Fitness not Fatness" for boys in grades 5-8 begin this week.

Lay in some wood for the winter.

You can get a break in our woods right now. The same with our fine upholstered pieces. Some of our furniture has been reduced. Not everything mind you, just selected pieces for your home.

For a limited time there's living, dining and bedroom furniture at remarkable savings. The selection's remarkable, too. You'll find it in classic traditional, contemporary and American traditional designs.

In another tradition, we've always kept our prices rather unusual.

Add that to our special savings now and there's every reason to visit.

Select a chair to sit by the fire. Or choose to lay in some wood for the bedroom. Whatever. We've got something special to warm your home and budget. What's more, it will last for a lifetime.

School Committee
Tables Action On
Hardy Parking Lot

The School Committee has tabled a decision on whether it will support a warrant article to fix up town land along the railroad track at Lake street for parking by Hardy School teachers.

Some committee members were prepared to not support the article because the Hardy staff indicated it did not favor the new alternative to parking on the playground because of vandalism in the area of the tracks.

The motion which was tabled was to not support developing the new parking area because the cost of $18,000 did not provide that amount of value and because there was no indication that the supervision of the area which the staff felt was needed would be provided.

Mrs. Ann Klein said she felt the decision on making the parking area should be up to town meeting. William O'Brien said the committee did not have enough information about the area—if the site is a problem now, he said the School Committee should know about it and be concerned because of its proximity to the school.

Nine From Band
Plan To Audition

Nine members of the St. Camillus Band Program will be auditioning next week for the Northeastern District Junior High School Music Festival. This event is sponsored annually by the Massachusetts Music Educators' Association. Three musical organizations, a band, orchestra, and chorus are selected by audition. These groups will present a concert on March 16th in Amesbury.

Those auditioning include: flute, Joan Sandrelli; clarinet, Mary O'Reilly; Betty O'Quin; Kathy Carroll; French horn, Carolyn Mahoney; Michelle Root; trombone, Lisa Foley; baritone horn, Maureen Everett; Patricia Keeley.

School Department
Seeks Early Bids
On Scare Supplies

Facing the likelihood that school supplies will continue to rise in cost and become in short supply, Asst. Supt. Richard Connolly is exploring with the Finance Committee going out for bid now on supplies for the next school year.

Connolly told the School Committee that he has been advised by suppliers that if he waits until April for bidding supplies might not come until November or December.

He has also been told that prices of paper and other supplies are expected to go up 8 percent between Feb. 1 and April 1.

Connolly seeks Finance Committee okay on seeking bids now on $70,000 worth of supplies and paying for them in this budget year, even though the supplies were not budgeted, and reducing next year's budget by a comparable amount.

Men's Garden Club

W. Robert Mill of Belmont will be the speaker at the next meeting of the Men's Garden Club of Greater Boston on Monday 7:30 p.m. at the Imler House, 417 Common st., Belmont. Mill, who is president of the Massachusetts Orchid Society, will speak on "Growing Orchids Under Lights".

Teresa Lucia De Stefano Marries Craig W. Champion

At St. Agnes' Church Teresa Lucia De Stefano became the bride of Craig William Champion Jr. Father Joseph Fugalo officiated at the 5:30 ceremony. A reception followed at the Stephen James House.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio G. De Stefano of Arlington, formerly of Montella, Italy, was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown designed and custommade by her sister, Mrs. Maria Bolger of Cambridge, with empire waist and princess line. A rose design trim, embroidered with pearls, made a design on the white silk. A crown of rosebuds, also custommade, which held the silk illusion veil, was of white silk, white flowers and a touch of green. She carried 13 white longstemmed roses with baby's breath.

Angelina Ippolito of Arlington, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Elizabeth Bolger of Cambridge; Corinne Cheney and Brigitte Iacono of East Boston; Marcia Rogers, Fall River; and Lee Ann Nisbet of Salem, N.H. Nancy Baldassarre of East Boston was flower girl.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Craig W. Champion Sr. of Waltham, had John Alley of Sudbury as best man. Ushers were Arthur Nisbet of Salem, N.H.; Kevin Dudley and Eric Dudley of Acton; John Bolger of Cambridge; and as ring bearers, Daniel Varallo and Anthony Ippolito of Arlington.

A chorus of 25 children from Central

Junior High School, Waltham, where the bride worked as a part-time teacher in the bilingual program, sang at the ceremony.

Mrs. Champion attended Mass. Bay Community College in Watertown and received her BA from Boston University. She is a master's degree candidate in the bilingual program at Boston State College.

Her husband was graduated from Waltham High School and received his BA in math and physics from University of Massachusetts, Boston. He is a master's degree candidate in mathematics at University of Massachusetts.

After a wedding trip to St. Croix, Virgin Islands, Mr. and Mrs. Champion have made their home in Arlington.

Menotomy School Registration Open

Applications are available for the Menotomy Preschool. Requests for applications for children who will be four by Dec. 31 may be directed to Mrs. Marjorie Truesdale at Arlington High School.

The preschool meets three mornings a week from 9 to 11 a.m. There is a small fee for insurance, supplies and field trips. Classes are held at the First Baptist Church, 819 Mass. ave.

The nursery school is part of a vocational training program for senior students in the Arlington High Child Study program. Students have completed one year in the program working in local nursery schools and day-care centers and kindergartens.

The school meets all state requirements and has a head teacher and director who works with the high school students. Children are selected for attendance by random selection. Applications will be received until March 15, selections made by April 10.

The Art of Home Decor

BY FRANK

HOME DECOR

A house doesn't really become a home until the pictures are hung. They make a room look lived in, and they tell you by whom. Like books on the library shelves, pictures reveal their owner's personality. Let them have their say in the best possible way, through well-planned arrangements that add to the room's overall appearance. You needn't limit yourself to pictures alone. Sculpture, antiques, masterpieces you make yourself—anything goes, and in any room; as long as you can hang it as part of a pleasing composition. And that's easy, once you learn the technique of successful arranging.

The carpeting you select can also reveal something of your personality so come into FRANK DUFFY CARPET CENTER, 965 Mass. Ave., 643-2280 and let us show you some of our new decorator styles. You can be sure that all of our installations are done by experts and are fully guaranteed. Open: Mon-Sat. 9-5:30, Fri. til 9:30. HELPFUL HINT: If your vacuum cleaner has a spray attachment, you can paint your wicker furniture with it.

The Minute Men Will Meet Feb. 6, Hear Col. McCauley

The next meeting of the Menotomy Minute Men will be held on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the D.A.V. Hall, 1207 Massachusetts Ave.

The Menotomy Minute Men are the distinctive marching unit authorized by the Board of Selectmen to represent the town in events commemorating the patriots who responded to the alarm on April 19, 1775. Interested residents and prospective recruits are invited to attend.

The speaker of the evening will be Col. John F. McCauley, Chairman of the Council of Minute Men, who will explain the increasing importance of member companies like Menotomy in the Council which now includes more than 30 groups of reactivated colonial militia.

No stranger to Arlington, Col. McCauley has been marshal of the colonial division of the Patriots' Day Parade in town for the past three years. He is a long time student of 18th century American history and handicrafts, past president of the Woburn Historical Society and a drummer in the Woburn Minutemen.

It is also expected that Menotomy's captain, James H. O'Halloran, will announce the weekend dates on which the unit will turn out at Minute Man National Historical Park in Concord. In their previous appearance there in the Living History Program staged by the National Park Service they attracted 1500 visitors in one afternoon.

Boys' Club Seeks Nominations For Its Service Award

The Arlington Boys' Club has underway its effort to select an Arlington Citizen for their 10th Annual "Outstanding Service to Youth Award." Deadline for nominations is Feb. 4.

The basic criteria which will be taken into consideration by the selection committee is: the person must be 25 years of age, a non-professional youth worker (i.e. a volunteer), a resident of Arlington, and that he or she is involved in direct relationships with youth in their activities.

A second notice has gone out to some 70 organizations in the community who are directly or indirectly involved with youth. Any citizen may nominate a candidate for this award by filling out an application which may be obtained from Club Director George Faulkner.

Chairman of the "Outstanding Service to Youth Award" Committee is Arthur D. Saul, Jr. Members are: Henry Bulens, Jr., Charles Johnson, Mrs. Mary Pulsford, Mrs. Donald Avery.

Past recipients of the award are: Mrs. Margaret Spengler, Lloyd Crocker, Francis Donnelly, Gerard Bartholomew, Mrs. Elizabeth Greeley, V. Robert Gagosian, W. Lawrence Repetto, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Walsh, and David J. Powers.

Seniors at ACHS participated in an actor's workshop on Monday conducted by "Stage 1," a company from the Boston Center of the Arts. The actors encouraged the students to participate in various forms of self-disciplined body movements, yoga, and interpretation of drama on a personal basis.

This was the third year that the group has come to ACHS to work with students. The six actors performed selections from various plays including "Hamlet," "MacBeth," and an original play, "The Arrangers"—the story of the life of Christ.

The AHS Junior Class has planned a semi-formal for Feb. 21. This affair will be held at the Woburn Country Club and tickets can be obtained from any junior class officer or from the junior office.

All girls interested in joining the Arlington High Gymnastics Club should sign up in the Girls' Physical Education Office. This club will meet on Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 6 to 7:30 in the Boys' Gym.

Congratulations to the ACHS Varsity Hockey Team who have climbed to first place in the Catholic Division. A lot of credit goes to coach Steve Theall who is in his first year of coaching.

Position On Ballot Determined Feb. 5

The Registrars of Voters will meet, Feb. 5 at 8 p.m. at the Town Hall for the purpose of drawing by lot the positions which candidates for major office and Town Meeting membership will occupy on the ballot at the annual Town Election, March 2.

Each candidate or representative has the opportunity to attend the occasion at the auditorium of Town Hall.

Correction

In a story which appeared on page 3 in the Jan. 24 issue of The Advocate, Joan R. Conklin was identified by police as the operator of a car which was in collision with a pedestrian in front of 689 Mass. Ave., Jan. 16.

Police later identified the operator of the vehicle which was in collision with the man as Francis C. Marchant, 11B Dudley St., Arlington and not Joan Conklin.

According to police, a car operated by Marchant was in collision with a vehicle operated by Joan Conklin and then the car driven by Marchant was in collision with Joseph Guardabasso, 170 Newport St. and then in collision with a parked car.

coaching hockey at ACHS. Last week's win was due in part to the final goal performance of Pat Sweeney. The team looks forward to your support at the games and they need that support especially in the next few weeks to hold on to the title.

AHS Students who have been parking their cars behind the school in the parking area are warned that as of Feb. 4th, double sessions at the school will cause a greater need for auto space and there will be no student parking at the school allowed.

Students with parking stickers must check with Mr. Taylor to explain their particular need for special consideration in this matter.

A Mass of Unity was celebrated on Tuesday for the students of ACHS. The program included readings pertaining to the needs of awareness of each others needs and the Mass was celebrated by Father O'Sullivan, spiritual director of ACHS.

"The Dutchman" will be the featured band at a CYO Dance to be held at Fidelity House on Saturday night. The dance starts at 8 p.m.

Several Arrested By Arlington Police

Arlington police arrested a Concord resident, Jan. 27 on two charges.

Officer Richard Carroll arrested Edward L. Daniel, Jr., 20, 1869 Mass. Ave., Concord, at 3:20 a.m. at the intersection of Mystic St. and Russell St.

He was charged with operating a motor vehicle under the influence of an alcoholic beverage and possession of a controlled substance.

Meanwhile, on Jan. 24, at 12:15 a.m. Officers Robert Hughes and James Kearns arrested Laurence Meadows 18, 16 Henderson St. and Gerald A. Kilfoyle 18, 45 Mass. Ave. Each was charged with attempted breaking and entering in the night time of a building at 82 Mass. Ave.

An Arlington juvenile was also charged with being a delinquent child, to wit: breaking and entering in the night time of a building at 82 Mass. Ave.

Frog Song, Circus Are Friday Films

"Flicks for a Friday Evening" will be presented at the Edith M. Fox Branch Library at 7:30 p.m. The family film program, sponsored by the Robbins Library, is open to the public free of charge.

The movies to be shown this week are: "Foolish Frog"—the delightful Pete Seeger's tale of a farmer singing about a frog. Colorful animation provides enjoyable entertainment for everyone (9 minutes).

"Circus Boy"—story of a boy who is subject to stage fright but overcomes his fear to save the act of a friend by performing a daring tight-rope act (51 minutes).

Pickett Sends Out Questionnaire And Newsletter On 1973

Voters of the 5th Middlesex District (West Somerville-East Arlington) have received the fifth in a series of a combined newsletter and questionnaire from State Rep. William A. Pickett.

Rep. Pickett says it has always been his belief that elected officials must communicate with their constituents on a regular basis. "Also, we must get a pulse of the community on important legislative issues that will be facing us during the coming session. For these reasons it has always been my practice to keep my constituents informed of the happenings of the past legislative session and conduct a survey of important issues of the upcoming session."

Representative Pickett's 1974 newsletter notes the high points of the 1973 legislative session, including consumer protection legislation, social and human services, health care services, equal rights, transportation legislation, environmental protection legislation, education, and governmental reform legislation.

"The legislative session was personally satisfying to me," says Rep. Pickett. Eighteen pieces of legislation which I sponsored or co-sponsored with other legislators or citizens of my district were signed into law by the Governor.

"Four of these acts are concerned with insurance regulation. Another provides a fine of not more than $500 for the abandonment of

Masonry Work At Cooke's Hollow Done; Model On Display

All of the masonry work at Cooke's Hollow park has been completed. A winding crushed-stone path now leads from Mystic Street to the bridge over the flume.

As soon as the ground is workable in the spring the park will be completed with planting of trees and shrubs.

At one point in the park the footpath came very close to the chainlink fence of the parking lot beside the park. John Mirak, owner of the property, transferred approximately 90 square feet of his land to the Conservation Commission to be used as conservation land. The transfer of this parcel allowed the path to be widened at this point.

The Garden Club has put on display at Dallin Library a scale model of Cooke's Hollow built by Mrs. John R. Hoopes Jr. of Cohasset, commissioned by Mrs. Hans W. Bouwenssch, a member of the Arlington Garden Club and supporter of Cooke's Hollow since its inception.

A recent contribution has been made to the park by Mrs. William Buechner. Contributions may be sent to the Arlington Garden Club, Mill Brook Project, PO Box 222, Arlington.

Selectmen To Meet With Committees

Selectmen will meet with several boards and committees Monday night to discuss a variety of subjects. At 7:15 p.m. the Board will meet with Town Moderator Lawrence Corcoran to discuss the filling of the vacancy on the Board caused by the resignation of Selectman John Bullock.

Following that meeting the Board will discuss warrant articles with the Redevelopment Board, discuss the latest progress on the statue of Uncle Sam with the Uncle Sam Committee and then at 9 a.m. discuss warrant articles with the Finance Committee.

At the meeting of Feb. 25 the Board and the Town Manager will discuss proposed water rate increases in Arlington.

Town Manager Donald R. Marquis last week presented three schedules of rates to the Board for future discussion.

Marquis told members of the Board that he planned on putting the new schedule into effect in June so that the bills will be sent out in June along with the rest of the bills to be sent out under the new fiscal year program which goes into effect on July 1.

The MDC has voted a water rate of $200 per million gallons to be assessed in November of 1974 to apply to anticipated revenues and expenses of the Commission for the fiscal year 1974-75.

The present water rate per million gallons is $120. This rate was established 12 years ago.
